About Beth Rosen

Beth Rosen is an award-nominated filmmaker and #1 best-selling author, film producer, screenwriter, actress, songwriter, artist, keynote speaker, professor of yoga, healer, and attorney. As a filmmaker, she co-produced and acted in Scavenger Killers, starring Academy/Emmy/Golden Globe winners and nominees Eric Roberts, Charles Durning, and Robert Loggia. The film was written by critically acclaimed Producer/Director Kenneth Del Vecchio. She also worked as an associate producer of three other Del Vecchio films: The Life Zone (a pro-life abortion suspense thriller which prompted a media frenzy), An Affirmative Act (a pro-gay marriage film), and O.B.A.M. Nude, a satire of President Obama. All three films are available on VOD (and DVD) through NBC/Universal and Screen Media Films. In 2012, Beth served as the Assistant Director of the Hoboken International Film Festival after her short film Photo Finish (co-written and co-produced with Emmy-award-winning writer, Mort Scharfman), was nominated for "Best of the Festival Audience Award." She also created, wrote, directed, produced, and acted in two Television Web Series: Chasing Fairy Tail, a comedy which pokes fun of fairy tales, and Between Two Firs, a holiday parody of Between Two Ferns with Zach Galifianakis. The films were subsequently invited into several prominent film festivals. She recently acted in and served as production manager on the film American Wisper, which won nine international film festival awards, and is currently streaming in the U.S. and around the world. Beth has also been a panelist speaker at the Garden State Film Festival: Women in Film and Television, a repeat keynote presenter and panel speaker at The World United International Parliament Summit, and a radio show host for Spotlight Radio on Rhino on Air Radio (rhinoonair.com) and a co-host on Love Lessons and Wordgasms Podcast.

Beth is also a #1 best-selling author of "Living Proof: Celebrating the Gifts that Came Wrapped in Sandpaper" with Lisa Nichols (co-author of "Chicken Soup for the African American Soul"). She has written and illustrated several children's books and books of wisdom which are currently in development as potential television series. She is a Principal Member of Osprey Point LLC, a business consulting and capital sourcing company for mid-cap and start-up companies in the entertainment industry, and Owner of Signature Beth Productions LLC, where she is currently in development and preproduction on a variety of media projects for television and film, including scripted and unscripted comedy, drama, suspense-thrillers, animation, reality docudramas, and event series. She has several shows at various networks for consideration and is currently developing a disruptive fitness and wellness app and an interactive TV, film, and game streamer. Beth's social media community pages, which cater to uplifting messages and encouraging fans, currently get a combined organic social media reach of between 1 million to 29 million a month.

Beth studied with world-renowned masters from all walks of life in numerous areas of expertise, including spiritual enlightenment, healing, yoga, martial arts, business, internet marketing, social media, law, television, and comedy writing. Her workshops and courses incorporate enlightened training from her various mentors. She has studied with NYT #1 best-selling authors and breakthrough specialists T. Harv Eker and Lisa Nichols, corporate bankruptcy law expert Harvey Miller, 6X Emmy winner and social media expert Dr. Shawne Duperon, and Randy Harris, and internet marketing expert Alex Mandossian, AI prompt engineering with Ronnie Tsunami and Andy O'Bryan. Beth is also a graduate of Peak Potentials Quantum Leap Enlightenment Training, which focuses on mind over matter and accelerated learning techniques to release past traumas, unhealthy grudges, and destructive holding patterns. She also studied sacred heart training and is a graduate of spiritual leader James Twyman's Spoon Bending Course. Beth is also a professionally trained healer and professor of yoga with over 800 hours of certified training from Yogi Hari's Ashram and a certified Knowledge Broker through Tony Robbins' and Dean Graziosi's mastermind training program. She attended the Barbara Brenna School of Healing for 3 years where she learned various techniques to heal physical, emotional, and psychological trauma, focusing on communication and contact, energetic healing, long-distance healing, hands-on healing, core building, haric alignment, trager, and healing through sound, song, dance, karate, and body movement. She has studied Reiki and other forms of healing with world-renowned masters, including long-distance meditative healing and cancer removal with Daskolos-trained healer Ron Wilding, bliss healing and ascension techniques with ascended master Dr. Ajay Kotwal from the Himalayas, healing through laughter with the famous laughing yogi, Yogi Ramesh Pandey, ancient yogic healing of the mind and body with Yogi Hari, tai chi and body alignment with Kai Kusinow, and Isshinryu karate with former USA Olympic Gold Medalist Women's Coach Shihan Kim.

Beth has a B.S. in Economics from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania and a J.D. from Columbia Law School, with over 25 years of legal experience, having worked as an international corporate, banking, and insolvency attorney at top law firms, including Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, Shearman & Sterling LLP, and Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft LLP.

Her diverse background, training, and life experiences give her the unique ability to get to the heart of the matter and touch the soul in profound ways. She is a master with words and like all masters, she draws you in to draw you out.
